

The John C. Rouman Lecture Series
and the
Onassis Foundation USA
Present

Wednesday, Oct. 23, 7:00 pm M223 Paul Creative Arts Center (PCAC)
“A Cavafy Celebration”

Celebrating the 150th Anniversary of Modern Greece’s Most Famous Poet

Distinguished Professors Martin KcKinsey (UNH) and Peter Bien (Dartmouth), along with renowned poet and author Dinos Siotis offer a series of readings and lectures on Cavafy and his reflections on the past.

Thursday, Oct. 24, 7:30 pm in the Strafford Room, 240 Memorial
Union Building

“Was the Trojan War Real? Recent Excavations at Troy”

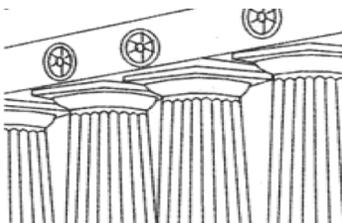

The Annual Fall John C. Rouman Lecture

Dr. Brian Rose, James B. Prichard Professor of Archaeology at the University of Pennsylvania and Curator-in-Charge, Mediterranean Section, University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology, shares the fruit of his experience as excavator at and scholar of Troy.

Friday, Oct. 25, 7:00 pm in M223 Paul Creative Arts Center (PCAC)
“Zoe, Eros, and Thanatos: Greek Heroines in Opera”

A Lecture with Narrative and Performance

Professor Ioanna Sfekas-Karvelas teams up with pianist and UNH alum Dr. Robert Herschbach to present an evening of opera and lectures on Greek heroines in opera, focusing on such topics as female sacrifice, family curses, determinism and hubris vs. free will, and much, much more.

The John C. Rouman
Lecture Series

Onassis
Foundation (USA)

The John C. Rouman Lecture Series Advisory Board

J. C. Rouman Lecture Board: Stephen Brunet, Fr. Constantine Desrosiers, the Honorable William Gardner, Ted Kirkpatrick, Christos and Mary Papoutsy, Paul Properzio, John Rouman, R. Scott Smith and Stephen Trzaskoma.